End-of-Life Notice: Series 9000

MB-SS-1120
March 10, 1997

ICL hereby provides End-of-Life notification for the Series 9000 Scanner/Scale system. This product has been replaced by the Orion 9500 product line.

Many elements, such as the main scale unit and cables, are common between the Series 9000 and the Orion 9500. Where those elements are used in the Orion 9500, the products will continue to be available as part of the Orion 9500 line.

ICL plans to maintain a complete spares parts inventory on this unit for a minimum of five years. After that point, parts may continue to be available from ICL or also from secondary sources, used units, etc.

If you have any current sales requirements for the Series 9000, it is possible that your ICL Account Executive may still be able to procure units on your behalf during this month's Last-Time-Buy. Please contact Pat Huston or Larry Schmitz immediately if this is the case.

To Your Success,

Tony
