

More Additions to ISS45 Express

August 30, 2001

Fujitsu Transaction Solutions is pleased to announce that full TeamPoS 2000 configurations with ISS45 Express will now be equipped with special locking/stacking brackets to enhance installations where integrated configurations might be used.

The additional parts will include the locking bracket kit for integrated mounting of the Printer¹ and a similar kit for integrated mounting of the Flat Panel display. All Express configurations that include the Printer and Flat Panel display will include these parts from now on.

A filler plate (fitting between the printer and the display) for appearance purposes will also be added for when stock is received in approximately three weeks.

Please note that configurations that do not include the printer or display will not include these parts. If these components are needed for such configurations, they can be ordered at minimal cost (see Marketing Bulletin 1157 for TeamPoS 2000 ordering information).

Pricing for ISS45 Express systems will not be affected by these hardware enhancements. The updated ISS45 Express Marketing Bulletin reflecting these additions is available on the ISS45 Web Site.

To Your Success,

Tony

¹ This stacking bracket kit for the printer also includes a bracket for the 104P keyboard, which is not used with ISS45. This extra bracket may be discarded.
