

Update Bulletin

Fujitsu/Epson DT50-III — Last-Time Buy Notice

February 26, 2013

Fujitsu has announced the withdrawal and end-of-life of all models and configurations of the Fujitsu DT50-III printer.

You recall that the Fujitsu DT50-III is similar to the Epson H6000-III (which Epson has also discontinued) but provides custom colors and bosses to fit the TeamPoS terminals. While the Epson H6000-IV is a newer and superior printer – and currently available – you may have customers that require consistency through their stores and therefore additional DT50-III printers or whole-unit spares may be needed.

Retalix is working with Fujitsu to push for appropriate spare parts levels and long-term availability of DT50-III spare and repair components via SupplyPoint. Regarding full-unit DT50-III printers, however, please review your dealership's installed base and customer requirements as soon as possible.

All orders for additional Fujitsu DT50-III printers must be to Retalix Order Entry no later than Friday March 22, 2013.