

Update Bulletin

Fujitsu Ship-Stop

July 31, 2013

Fujitsu has informed Retailix that Fujitsu will decline to ship any further orders for Retailix Channel Partners until further notice.

This includes orders already in-house or previously committed and scheduled by Fujitsu for shipment. Retailix is working to resolve the issue, but cannot currently guarantee when Fujitsu will fulfill these orders.

As a result, Retailix cannot for the moment accept additional orders for Fujitsu products.

We hope to re-establish the normal order and shipment flow, and will provide an update at the end of this week. In addition, Retailix Order Entry may be contacting Channel Partners directly with information regarding specific orders and their status.
