PocketOffice Now In General Release

June 30, 2003

PocketOffice today entered General Release. The Field Trial phase has been declared complete, and the product is available to users.

The first PocketOffice release contains Shelf Audit, Item Management and Q-Buster. Work is underway on the next release, which will contain the Grocery Dashboard and possibly even handheld Cashier Monitoring. There's a good chance these can be in your hands this summer.

There will be no price changes for the new features in the second PocketOffice release – all users will get the upgrade and new features at no charge.

“The Order Desk Is Open!”

To Your Success,

Tony
