PocketOffice™ Released to Field Trial and Dealer Demo

May 7, 2003

StoreNext Retail Technologies is pleased to announce that PocketOffice has passed two months of intensive Alpha testing and is now going to field trial in both V8 and V7 sites. Shelf Audit, Item Management and Q-Buster™ will go to General Release – expected late this month – at completion of these trials. PocketOffice requires 7.8.1_50 or 8.4.2_58 – both released.

Dealers who have purchased the PocketOffice Demo kit are also invited to get the PocketOffice application, drivers, installation utilities etc. from the PocketOffice All-In-One Page. The updated Installation Guide and User Reference Guide will also be found there, as well as brochures, presentations and everything else to do with PocketOffice.

Dealers will need to have their demo software keys updated to enable PocketOffice. StoreNext will do this at no charge upon submission of a SKIF to StoreNext Order Entry (that would be Mr. John Bellamy in case you've been out of the country for the last couple of decades). With the exception of the approved field trial sites, StoreNext will only update Dealer demonstration keys – no user keys will be created or updated until after the field trials are complete and PocketOffice is in General Release.

And don't forget – time is running out to order the PocketOffice Start-Up Kit. The limit is one per authorized Dealer sales office, and orders must be in by May 31 and shipped by June 30.
