StoreNext bolsters Connected Services portfolio with Analytics & Reporting Application

Independent grocers can report, analyze transaction data via Internet

SAN FRANCISCO – Feb. 29, 2004 — In an effort to further level the competitive playing field for independent grocers, StoreNext Retail Technologies LLC has introduced a Store Analytics & Reporting application within its Connected Services™ portfolio. The application combines four Web-based modules that remotely gather transaction data so storeowners can view and analyze sales information via the Internet.

The announcement was made at FMI's 2004 Markettechnics show, Feb. 29 – March 2 in San Francisco.

“With the Connected Store Analytics & Reporting application, independent grocers and small chains can manage their store as easily and effectively as the industry giants,” said Ray Carlin, president and CEO of Plano, Texas-based StoreNext. “Storeowners simply need an Internet connection to access reports and analyze sales activity from anyplace at anytime.”

Available immediately, the Connected Store Analytics & Reporting application consists of four modules:

- Report Viewer – operates on StoreNext's ISS45 software or the ScanMaster platform, and lets grocers review key store-produced reports any time via the Web.
- Reporting – browser-based analyzer operates on ISS45 and ScanMaster to present information from single stores or chainwide in modern GUI format and lets grocers query consolidated store and/or chain data.
- Sales Analysis – operates on ISS45 as an extension to Reporting module; further analyzing sales down to the item level, including cost and gross margins.

- Electronic Journal – collects the store’s ISS45 transaction log data and consolidates it into a constructed database to allow faster and easier querying of the data to locate specific transactions/tickets.

The Connected Services application suite, including Connected Store Analytics & Reporting, can be ordered on a subscription basis from StoreNext dealers.
